SICILY IN A BAG

The orange leather created by Ohoskin®, a Sicilian startup, is made from discarded orange and prickly pear waste, representing a true revolution in sustainable fashion.

Developed through a process that combines advanced technology with environmental consciousness, it transforms organic waste into a valuable resource. The result is a soft, durable, and high-quality leather that provides an eco-friendly alternative without compromising the elegance of Made in Italy - an ideal embodiment of the circular and sustainable economy that has always defined our brand.

Each bag tells a story: the story of Sicilian carts and the symbols of the Abbunanzia (Abundance) collection. Cornucopias, lemons, wheat, decorative figures, and vibrant color combinations reflect the island's cultural heritage, symbolizing a wish for abundance and prosperity.

With this collection, AMMÌA celebrates Sicily not only through design but also through the materials that represent it. The choice of orange and prickly pear leather, iconic fruits of the island, embodies the essence of sustainability and the enhancement of local resources. It creates a unique fusion of tradition and innovation, craftsmanship and environmental respect.

Each bag becomes a work of art, telling the story of Sicily's colors and symbols while carrying the essence of its land, reinterpreted in a contemporary way.

Take it with you, wherever you go, and always carry a piece of "Abbunanzia" in your life!
